Jacubicek Takes Secretary Post; Stewart To Handle Treasury

by Jerry Bosch

Marty Bena, John Murray, Tony Jacubicek, and Bob Stewart will be the new officers of the St. Joe Student Council for the 1958-59 school year. The offices were decided in the elections on Thursday, Apr. 24 and the special run-offs for secretary and treasurer the following day. Bena captured the presidency by decisively beating his opponent, Bob Findling, by a 684-84 margin. Bena, who is a native of Waukegan, Ill., has been active in the Chicago club, the inter-hall committee, and the Don Bosco club, and presently is junior class president.

Run-Off For Secretary

In the race for vice-president, junior John Murray won a narrow victory over sophomore class president Maurice O'Connor. At the final tally Murray, whose home town is Lorain, Ohio, was on top by a 376-321 count.

Stewart Wins Treasurer Post

Jacubicek, who hails from Chicago, Ill., is a member of the Chicago club and the Vets club. He spent two years in Germany as a member of the armed forces.

Another runoff was necessary in the race for treasurer. After the first day's voting three candidates, Oscar Nemeth, Charles Holmes, and Bob Stewart, remained. In the runoff Stewart collected 323 votes to win over his opponents Holmes and Nemeth, who totaled 173 and 103 votes respectively.

Movie Proposal Passes

The new Student Council treasurer is from Chicago, Ill. His activities include membership in the Chicago club and the Commerce club. He was Homecoming chairman in his sophomore year and currently is chairman of the Junior Prom.

Seven hundred and two of a possible 830 turned out in the first day's voting, while 607 cast ballots in the runoffs the following day. The special movie proposition was passed by a 455-198 majority.

Glee Club Picks Prexy

Ed Knight was chosen to succeed Terry O'Hagan as president of the St. Joe Glee Club in an election recently held at a meeting at the home of director Bernard E. Quebeck.

John Christen was re-elected vice-president, and Tom Lewis was named secretary-treasurer succeeding Don Todd.

Juniors Plan Japanese Motif For SJ Prom

For the past two weeks Noll Lounge has been the workshop of the junior class who are preparing for the 1958 St. Joe Prom, "Shangri-La." The first plans to materialize were the construction of two Japanese bridges. Bob Gontko and his crew of beavers drew the plans, solved the problems, and pounded the nails.

Waterfalls are now in the process of completion. Pre-Fab walls are also being built, while Japanese style trees are being made to grace the rock gardens which will inscribe the main court. Within two weeks the workers will move into the fieldhouse where the final touches will be added in order to meet the deadline of May 24.

Red, black, and gold will grace the fieldhouse and transform it into a true "Shangri-La." The Japanese gardens will be on the north and south sides of the intramural courts. The bandstand will represent true Japanese style architecture.

Bamboo will separate the main court from the dance floor giving the effect of a Japanese Tea Garden. Placed at the end of the main court will be a stream with bridges which will mark the entrance into "Shangri-La."

Up to now ticket sales have been poor and far behind those of previous years. As "Skip" Holmes of the Prom Committee stated: "This is going to be the finest event of the year. No one should miss it, for it will be one of the most unforgettable nights of his life."

"Dukes of Dixieland" Treat Jazz In Royal Manner at St. Joseph's

by Ed McGee

Royalty plays jazz at St. Joe fieldhouse! A near capacity crowd of St. Joe students, dates, and girls from Mundelein and St. Xavier's were treated to a delightful afternoon of Dixieland jazz Sunday, Apr. 27. The royalty were the Dukes of Dixieland, one of the hottest combos in the jazz field today.

The audience was slow in responding to the hot music supplied by the "Dukes." Cold weather and loss of an hour's sleep caused by the arrival of daylight saving time slowed reactions quite a bit. The real reason, however, was the poor acoustics of the fieldhouse which was definitely not built for jazz programs of this type which flourish best in a small, smoke-filled, crowded room.

Stereophonic Audience

The "Dukes" had a difficult problem to solve in that they could not hear each other too well. Also they had their backs to half of the audience when they were playing.

Despite these problems the group rallied their true musical greatness and professional showmanship and had the entire audience clapping in unison to the beat before the program was half over.

"Papa-Jac" Strums Banjo
The "Dukes" opened with the "Royal Garden Blues" and then played the "Introduction Blues" so that the "stereophonic audience" would know who the musicians were.

After vocalizing to "St. James Infirmary," Frank Assunto, trumpet player and leader of the band, called on "Papa-Jac." "Papa," the father of Frank and Fred Assunto, delighted the audience with his banjo strumming of "Alabama Jubilee."

"Dixie" Works Charm
After the intermission the group returned to a much warmer audience and opened with the very lively "Hindustan." This was followed by "High Society" and after a few more really hot numbers, "Papa-Jac" returned to show that he could also perform on the trombone.

The program closed with "When the Saints Go Marching In" and saw the complete brass section marching around the fieldhouse floor, playing to the audience seated on both sides. "Dixie" had worked its charm by this time and the chanting, hand-clapping audience could have stayed all night.

SJ Audience Receptive

The group was very happy and grateful for the response they received and said they would be happy to return to St. Joe's anytime. The reaction of the audience actually was a tribute to the group who were able to conquer the difficulties and disadvantages of having to play in the fieldhouse.

Besides Frank Assunto the "Dukes" consisted of Fred Assunto, loose trombonist and hilarious crowd-pleaser, Jack Maheu and his hot clarinet, and Stan "Happy" Mendelson, ivory-tickling pianist. Barney Mallon thumped on the bass viol and huffed and puffed on the tube, while "Red" Hawley cavorted on the drums.

300 SJ Parents Visit Pumaville On Parents Day

Parents and friends of close to 300 St. Joe students spent Sunday, May 4 on the Collegeville campus with their sons in observance of Parents Day. The day was highlighted by an award assembly which was held in the auditorium at 3:30 p.m.

The Very Rev. Raphael H. Gross, college president, presided at the assembly. David Carey, John Coombes, Richard Deters, Phillip Donegan, LeRoy Ellgass, Cletus Habing, Lawrence Herber, Richard Koch, Leo Kominek, Joseph Kovitch, Richard Meister, Albert Mueller, John Neff, Paul Stucker, Henry Stukenborg, Richard Sutter, Peter Warner, Edward Windom, and Mrs. Ruth Yeoman were officially admitted into Delta Epsilon Sigma, the National Catholic Honor Society.

Receiving official mention as members of Who's Who Among Students of American Colleges and Universities were John Bian, Alfred Bianucci, John Burke, Robert Christen, Thomas Fruehe, Kevin Hensley, Gregory Jancich, Louis Kun, Jerome Lachnicht, Charles Lancaster, James O'Brien, Francis Strezo, Urban Thobe, William Walters, and Joseph Wonderly.

Cyril M. Gulassa won first place in the Alumni Essay Contest for his article, "Tennessee Williams." Second place went to Ronald Moorman for "Eugene Delacroix—Romantic Master." Moorman also won first place in the Mary J. Pursley Contest for Creative writing with his story, "Nobody's Story." Thomas Mahoney's "6:39 Mass" merited second place.

Raymond Tennant's essay entitled "Stigma" won first place in the Hanley Science Contest. Edward McDermott took second place honors. Tennant received $100.

Fr. Gross also presented the Louis F. White Memorial Award to Terrence O'Hagan. The John P. Hruzik Geology Award to James Urban, and the Mother of the Year Award to Mrs. Leonard Grannan.

Following the presentation of the awards, Fr. Gross addressed the assembly on the role of parents as educators. Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament followed.

Auto Accident Claims Life Of St. Joe's Brother Dave

Collegeville lost one of its oldest and best-liked citizens when Brother David Schneider, C.P.P.S., 80, was killed in an auto accident near Marion on Monday, April 28.

He was en route to a building dedication at St. Charles Seminary, Carthage, Ohio, along with Rev. Francis Rehberger, C.P.P.S., pastor of Rensselaer's St. Augustine's, Rev. William Kramer, C.P.P.S., chemistry instructor at St. Joseph's, and Brother Joseph Hrezo, a warehouse clerk at the college.

Barber and Baseball Fan
Brother Dave died of a crushed chest and internal injuries after arrival at Marion General Hospital, where the others were taken.

At St. Joe, Brother Dave was a campus fixture, hardly ever seen without his big smile and word of greeting. He was a part of the college scene for 63 years, 54 of those as campus barber and devoted fan of the Cincinnati Redlegs.

Came To St. Joe In '94
It was an old college joke that, for many years, Brother Dave also was the chief butcher of all the meat used at St. Joe.

Brother Dave came to St. Joseph's from Baden, Germany, in 1894, at the age of 17 to study for the priesthood. At that time, St. Joseph's was a seminary for students of the priesthood.

Buried at Carthage

He dropped these studies in 1899 to enter the brotherhood and become a printer. He took the solemn promise as a Brother in 1902 at which time he began his career as a barber.

Funeral mass for Brother Dave was held on Wednesday, April 30 in the college chapel. He was buried on Friday, May 2, at St. Charles Seminary in Carthage, following ceremonies at the Seminary.

Brother Dave

Hats Off to Student Council; Best of Luck to New Officers

On the front page of this paper are pictured the four Student Council officers for the 1958-59 school year. In the coming year they will be depending upon you for support, the same support which you gave to this year's officers.

Speaking of this year's officers, let's take our hats off to them and say, "Nice job, guys!"

To Lou Kun, Jerry Lachnicht, Ed McDermott, and Charlie Lancaster, the editor and the staff of STUFF personally want to say thanks for your cooperation and assistance throughout the year.

Piles of Files: Right or Wrong?

Dear Editor,

For the past three years I have heard regularly that the library at St. Joseph's is one of the best stocked small college libraries around. The more I use the library the more I doubt the above statement.

It is very true that the library has over 65,000 books and bound periodicals, but as far as the books are concerned, I think the library should make an effort to purchase more recent publications.

I wish to quote a line from the college bulletin. "In vertical files in the reference room, there is a separate collection of vocational guidance material." The vertical files are there, all right, but the pamphlets are in such a state of disorder that one has a hard time trying to locate anything.

The pamphlet files are also not very current. Doesn't the library receive the pamphlets now being printed, or are they received and not filed? I feel that the second alternative is probably the correct one.

My reason for saying this is based on the fact that, while using the periodical stacks, I noticed several shelves and boxes of pamphlets which were issued quite recently. These pamphlets seem to be serving no other purpose other than collecting dust. Ed. Note

In the interest of fairness, we asked Fr. Banet if he would care to comment on this letter and we are printing his reply along with Mr. Metter's letter.

Dear Mr. Metter,

You have some good points to make and I approve and welcome them. We have been neglecting the pamphlet or vertical file, but your complaint is the first I've heard.

For a while I thought we were doing well. I wish however to call a few things to the attention of STUFF readers lest they be misled by your comments.

You generalize a little too much about things on the basis of your first impression. The library has spent over $16,000 this current school year on recent publications. We average more than 250 books a month (new) and subscribe to about 600 periodicals and serials—there is no delay in making these available.

Now show me the small college libraries that are doing much better than that. What in the world do you expect? What new material have you been looking for that we didn't have?

But the truth is out now, we have neglected the pamphlet file. Perhaps someone can give me an answer to that problem, maybe someone is willing to donate his time to that cause.

It isn't disastrous though—we see that all pamphlets needed for curriculum use get the same priority as the books. You are not right that we are letting pamphlets pile up—we just aren't looking for them.

The example of dust collecting in the basement happens to be the Government Document collection. Every item in that collection is properly recorded and readily available. If you have ever had a reference to an item in that collection you would know that. However, we will see that they get better dusting.

I said that I appreciate this kind of criticism, perhaps a little chagrined that you couldn't bring your complaints directly to me. That may be my own fault if I seem to be unapproachable.

Thanks again, and let us know what your needs were that we haven't been able to satisfy.

Chas. Banet, C.P.P.S.
Librarian

As always there are the forgotten men of the Student Council, fellows like Marty Bena, Maurice O'Connor, Larry Kelley, Bob Christen, Tom Doherty, and Mike Hardin without whom the officers could not have gotten along.

Then too behind the scenes, always interested in the welfare of the student body, is the coordinator of student affairs and the moderator of the Student Council, Fr. Donald Shea. Fr. Shea is always ready to lend an ear and a hand to everyone.

These are a few of the people who have made the 1957-58 Student Council function as effectively and efficiently as it has this past year.

If the newly elected officers for the 1958-59 school year can follow in the footsteps of their immediate predecessors, St. Joe will be assured of a good sound student government for the coming year.

However, all students must back the new Student Council leaders to the hilt. Each of us who returns next year must set the example for the incoming freshmen, showing them our loyalty to St. Joe and the duly elected officers of the Student Council.

Parents Day-1958; One to Remember

Looking back on St. Joseph's third annual Parents Day last Sunday brings to mind the success of this day which all constituents of St. Joseph's college devote to the honor of Mom and Dad.

Many people were responsible for making the 1958 Parents Day one to remember and it would be hard to know just where to start passing out bouquets.

Let's begin by thanking the good Lord for seeing that the rains stayed in their nebulous reservoirs . . . Thanks to the arranging committee headed by Fr. Baird who worked out a variety-filled schedule.

Thanks to St. Joseph's Symphonic Band under the direction of Adam P. Lesinsky for their delightful concert . . . Thanks to the Glee club and its director Bernard E. Qubeck for the choral concert which opened the awards assembly and closed it with the Rodgers and Hammerstein favorite, "It's A Grand Night For Singing."

Thanks to Puma Bob Jaaron for giving us a preview of the 1958 edition of the "best small college football team in the U.S." . . . Thanks to Old-Timers Banary, Wenzel, Paonessa, and Righimer for coming back to the scene of their former gridiron glory in order to test the bite of the 1958 Puma eleven.

Thanks to the seminarians of Xavier hall, all 53 of them, who proved once again that teamwork is the key to success . . . Thanks fellows for your warmth, congeniality and those enlightening liturgical displays.

Thanks to Miss Helen Skinner, dietician of the college, and the cafeteria staff for the fine turkey dinner.

Right about now congratulations are in order to the 19 new members of the national Catholic Honor Society, Delta Epsilon Sigma . . . To the 15 members of the 1958 graduating class whose names will become a permanent fixture in the 1958 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities.

Congratulations to Cyril Gulassa for his winning essay in the Alumni Essay Contest . . . To Ronald Moorman for his first rate creative efforts in the Mary J. Pursley contest for Creative Writing . . . To Raymond Tennant for his winning science essay in the Hanley Science Contest.

Congratulations to Terry O'Hagan, winner of the annual Louis F. White Award to the most outstanding Glee club member . . . To geologist Jim Urban, recipient of the John P. Hruzik Geology Award.

And last but not least congratulations to St. Joseph's 1958 Mother of the Year, Mrs. Leonard Grannan, whose son Bill is a junior majoring in accounting.

Without you, Mrs. Grannan, and the hundreds more like you the world would not be as rich . . . In our books every St. Joe mother is Mother of the Year.

What Do You Think?

by Jim St. Amour

With the current recession that has been taking place, many students have been wondering whether they will be able to work during the summer months. If you were not able to work this summer, how would you go about spending your time? Would you consider taking courses for credit at a nearby college or university, Bud Dowling, junior, Hammond, Ind.

With the current recession that the United States is in at the present time jobs for college students will undoubtedly be scarce this summer. I plan to attend summer school during the vacation so the problem of trying to find a job doesn't really mean too much in my case.

However, if I had planned to work this summer and was unable to obtain work I would certainly attend a college or university for credit rather than waste the summer away. I think it would be a good idea to gain extra credits so that during my last year the academic load would be lightened.

Luke J. Scheer, freshman, Royal Oak, Mich. If I find it impossible to secure steady summer work most of my spare time will be spent around home, either putting around the yard or working in the house. In past summers I have found more than enough to keep me busy around home.

I doubt if this summer will be any exception for my parents are already casting a disapproving eye toward the condition of the paint in a number of rooms. Chances are that I'll be mixing and spreading quite a bit of paint about walls and ceilings.

To find things to keep me busy, I'll have no trouble but to find money to keep me dating, that will be trouble. How and where I get the cash for operating expenses is going to be a problem. More than likely I'll be able to pick up a few odd jobs with the neighbors as I have in the past.

I doubt if I will attend school during the summer. I believe that vacation time is for relaxing and getting away from the books so that when fall and the new term is here I'll be fresh and able to do justice to my studies.

Frank Rastigue, sophomore, Mt. Clemens, Mich.

Because I live in the Detroit area I can easily see, by the number of unemployed, how serious the recession is. The Commerce Department gives us figures showing the April jobless total as 5,120,000, and with almost 300,000 '57 and '58 cars standing on the lots in lower Michigan alone, a job in an auto plant is not to be had.

The question will arise: What about other jobs? Certainly everyone in Michigan doesn't work for the late Henry's grandson. Granted, but let's look at it this way. It would be foolish for any employer to hire help when he can't sell his products. It's a fact that the majority of the population is scraping the bottom of the barrel, and the minority has its hands full just making ends meet.

As a result, if people can't buy the employer's products, the employer can't hire, that is, unless his employees will trade their services for furs. Then again, I understand fur trading has seen its better days, too.

If I am not able to work this summer I would more than likely spend my time on one of Michigan's beautiful beaches. Would I consider taking courses for credit at a nearby university near my hometown. depends on whether I get a job to pay for it.

D. J. Murphy, freshman, Chicago, Ill.

If I am unable to get my old job with United Air Lines, I intend to take as many courses as possible during the summer. I started college in February and that leaves me a semester behind.

Any catching up I can do during the summer won't hurt. I will need a course in Analytic Geometry and all the other subjects taught here under the Pre-Engineering Curriculum during the second semester freshman year.

Arthur Zielinski, freshman, South Bend, Ind.

If I were not able to work this summer, I would consider taking courses for credit at a nearby university near my hometown. Although these courses would only give me a few credit hours, it would advance me further toward a degree.

Since these courses would not last the length of a regular school day, I would take any odd jobs which might come up. These could include such things as mowing lawns, making deliveries for friends, and doing any unfinished work about the house.

Since summer is the time when most people paint their homes, this would offer another opportunity to pick up a small job. Although these various odd jobs would not last more than a few days, they would offer some source of income.

Bob Collins, freshman, Chicago, Ill.

Although I already have a job for the summer, if I didn't I probably would go to Loyola to take a few courses in some of my weak subjects. I also would probably have a lot of work to do around home which would keep me busy.

Between The Lines

by Greg Mahoney

These are indeed the times that try men's souls. Mortal man has been set adrift by cruel fortune on a sea of worry and disillusion. His small income is sucked down into the whirlpool of the Recession. His future as a free member of a democracy is endangered by a bunch of Eurasian lunatics. He is in constant peril of being accidentally bombed by the Air Force. And, on top of all this, he looks up and sees his best girl waddling in, wearing a sack dress.

A new menace has been unleashed upon civilization. While science blithely blew up the Pacific with nuclear fission and launched satellites in hit-and-miss fashion, the forces behind the chemise were silently plotting the imprisonment of the female form in a potato sack. In the fashion salons and sidewalk cafes of Paris, the chemise was too busy with its own problems to notice the menace that was rapidly engulfing Paris, and that was soon to obliterate the demure French female form.

Not content with its own troubles, France paid us back for the Marshall Plan by letting the secret of sack dress be deported to the fashion shops of America. This was somewhat like getting rid of the bubonic plague by loading all the rats of Europe on a ship and sending them to America. Well, the sack plague proved to be highly contagious and just as sickening.

The logic behind the fantastic success of the sack is a little vague. Healthy optimists suggest that the sack is only one of a million fads that will reach a high point of popularity and then will tail off and be forgotten. Ten years from now, we'll all laugh at photographs of the sack and wonder about the mentality of its wearers. Heaven and earth and the sack will all pass away.

However, until that day when the prettier half of the human race frees itself from its self-imposed prison of chemise, the male faction will just have to be content to hide its misery in silence. The louder their moans, the greater the sack sales. The shops of State Street will look like warehouses of moving potato sacks. At a distance of 100 feet, one will have difficulty distinguishing the sack girl from the Ivy League boy.

A few optimists are still maintaining the feeble hope that the summer months will see the exit of the sack. The designers of the sack are a crafty lot, though, and undoubtedly they'll find some way to turn out a sack bathing suit or a baggy sunsuit. Short shorts will be as antiquated as the White Sox' pennant hopes.

Good Grief!

INTRAMURAL SCOREBOARD

by Mike Goldrick

IM news is centered now on the softball season. The league standings in 16" are as tight as they can get. There is a two-way tie for first with two undefeated teams involved. The Gamokes and the 7-7's are locked with identical 6-0 records. The Gamokes are raging through the league with an average of 29 runs per game. The closest game the Gamokes have had to date was an extra-inning affair with the Drexel DT's. In that one the Gamokes scored four runs in the top of the eighth to win 14-10.

The Noll 7-7's have had an easy time of it so far, but they have a number of tough games coming up including the big one with the Gamokes on the final day of the season.

Other teams which have made good showings so far are the Drexel DT's and the Ad. Building Ables. The DT's have lost two games, one to the Gamokes, and the other to the 7-7's, in both cases the winning margin has been four runs. The Ad. Building Ables have a 5-1 record and still have to play the two leaders. By beating them both the Ables could tie for first.

League standing are as follows:

16" League		12" League
Bennett Gamokes	6-0	Bennett Gamokes	5-0
Noll 7-7's	6-0	Vets Nine	4-0
Ad. Bldg. Ables	5-1	Merlini Critters	4-1
Drexel DT's	5-2	Dorm Jokers	4-2
Merlini Nemesis	3-2	W. Seifert White Lillies	3-2
W. Seifert White Lillies	3-2	E. Seifert Highlifters	1-3
Ichibons	2-2	Ad. Bldg. Blotters	1-3
Gaspar Blockbusters	2-3	Noll 7-7's	3-4
E. Seifert Highlifters	2-3	Drexel Warriors	0-5
E. Seifert Easterners	3-4	Merlini Meteors	0-5
Powerhouse Misfits	2-4
Noll F-U-B-A-R-S	2-4
Noll Nine Plus One	1-4
E. Seifert Pop-Ups	1-5
Gaspar Falcons	1-5
W. Seifert Socks	0-5

There has not been too much action in the 12" league due to rain. However, in the action that did occur the league leading Gamokes and Vets each added a win to their records. The Gamokes tipped the Merlini Critters 6-5, and the Vets won on forfeit from the 7-7's. The fourth place Dorm Jokers knocked off the 7-7's 14-9.

The spring tennis tourney was forced to be canceled because of insufficient entries. The fall horseshoe tournament takes place this week, and all are reminded to be sure and show up for their matches. The double tournament in horseshoes has yet to be scheduled.

Varsity Views

by Tom Donahue

The cancellation of last Saturday's doubleheader with Indiana State leaves St. Joe in a bad spot. The game should have been played the following Monday, according to the new conference rules, but since it was again rained out it will be cancelled permanently.

Indiana State is currently leading the conference with a 6-0 record. Since our Pumas don't get a shot at them this year we'll have to depend on someone else knocking them off in one of their remaining four games. Of course if they would lose two of their remaining four and we swept all of ours, we'd end up with a conference championship. Let's hope for the best.

Coach Jauron was fairly well pleased with the Varsity's showing last Sunday against the Old-Timers but he reports that the team still needs a lot of work. This is especially true of the pass defense and ball handling. He said that if that was a conference game Sunday and the opposition started to rotate pass plays, we would have been in trouble.

The biggest problem the Pumas will have next season is a lack of depth. Coach Jauron feels that we're fairly strong in the first team but lack experienced men in the second and third units. The team is comprised mostly of freshmen and sophomores.

The first game on the schedule for next September is Xavier once again and they are really loaded. They have 19 men back from the first two units on last year's club. At quarterback they're three deep. But let's not sell our Pumas short. Those guys from Xavier put their trousers on one leg at a time in the morning just like anybody else.

It seems that the Varsity-Old-Timers game last Sunday met with the approval of most of you. It's a good way to see how the team has progressed after the spring drills and it gives us all a chance to see the grads in action once again.

St. Joe Nine Splits with Valpo; Mauls Marian 16-4 on May Day

Indiana Central Blanks Pumas 4-0, Three Hits

Indiana Central's Greyhounds, behind the steady sidearm pitching of Ray Howard, who struck out eight and allowed only three singles, snubbed the Pumas 4-0 here, on Tuesday, April 29.

Willie Walters, starting pitcher for the Pumas, gave up two earned runs and one unearned run in a five-inning stint. Tom Geffert replaced Walters in the sixth and yielded another unearned run. Central's first run came in the fourth inning as a result of St. Joe errors. In the fifth inning the Greyhounds added two more off Walters on two successive squeeze bunts which caught the infield napping.

The game was actually won in the fifth inning when Central pushed across an unearned run. The Puma bats which were previously blasting enemy pitching, found the going tough, and could not muster any threat to Howard's right-handed slants.

Central backed up Howard's consistent pitching with 10 hits off Walters and Geffert in the nine inning affair. They made only one error.

St. Joseph's college baseball team reached the halfway mark in the Indiana Collegiate conference race with a 5-1 record Saturday, Apr. 26 after splitting with Valparaiso on the St. Joe field.

The Crusaders took the first game 8-5, while the Pumas notched the second behind the two-hit pitching of Big Greg Jancich, 5-1, who picked up his third conference victory without defeat while allowing just two hits and striking out eight and walking four.

Valpo's Run A Gift In 2nd Game

The Pumas used three pitchers in the first two innings of the opener as Valparaiso got off to a commanding 6-0 lead. Starter Angelo Dattomo took the loss.

In the second game Valpo's only run came in the fifth as a result of two Puma errors and was thus unearned.

Pumas Trounce Marian

Catcher Carl Kozlevcar, who went into the twin bill pacing the Pumas' offense with a .400 average, collected four hits in six trips to the plate, including a double and a triple, to again lead the Puma attack.

St. Joseph's college Pumas pounded three Marian college pitchers for 16 hits as they rolled to a 16-4 win in a game played on the Puma diamond, Thursday, May 1.

Hamman Hits Homer

Ed Vrdolyak, starting and winning pitcher for the St. Joe, got off to a shaky start as he was touched by Marian for three runs in the first inning. The Pumas came back with three of their own in the bottom of the first on singles by Deem, Finnegan, and Kuzniar, and two Marian errors.

St. Joe added five more runs in their half of the second, the big blow being a three run homer by right fielder Bob Hamman.

SJ Has 4 Run Inning

In the third the Pumas pushed four more runs across when Vrdolyak led off with a single, Gagliano singled, and Koehler singled to send Vrdolyak across and Gagliano to third. Deem followed with a single that drove in Gagliano and sent Koehler to third. Finnegan then laced a hit to right center and both runners crossed the plate as the center fielder bobbled the ball.

St. Joe added two more insurance runs in the fifth and two more in the eighth. The other Marian run came on a triple by Catcher Joe in the eighth. He scored on a sacrifice fly.

Broadcasting After Books: Charlie Lancaster's Future

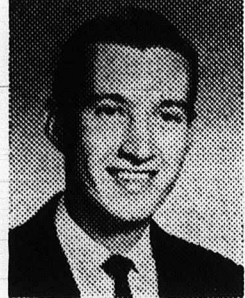

by Ed McGee

Charles Lancaster is one of the very few students who has been able to combine his schooling with a practical application of his chosen profession. Charlie, who has been sports announcer at St. Joe's since the fall of 1955, has a position as a radio announcer waiting for him upon graduation.

It all started before Charlie entered college. The Rotary club of Lebanon, Ky., sends two students to the World Affairs Institute in Cincinnati, Ohio, each year. In his senior year at St. Augustine high school in Lebanon, Charlie received the honor. His report on the institute eventually led to a broadcasting position with station WLBN, Lebanon.

Works As Disk Jockey

Mr. Charles Shuffert, co-manager of the 1000-watt station which serves 125,000 people, contacted Charlie's father with the radio an-

Charlie Lancaster spot commercials, news reports, and disk jockey assignments from 1 to 8 p.m. Charlie finds the work very interesting, and better yet, not too hard. He has an opportunity to meet persons from all walks of life through his connection with the broadcasting medium.

Louisville Announcer Helps Him

One of his programs this past summer was "Platter Party," a request program from 3 to 5 p.m. on station WLBN. Despite the fact that he heard the same records over and over again, he enjoyed doing it. Charlie says he would much rather play his own choices and would like to have a program modeled after that of either Dan Sorokin of WCFL or Wally Phillips of WGN in Chicago.

Charlie is continually gathering professional information and has received counselling from Pete French, a Louisville announcer, and from the Dean of the University of Kentucky. Charlie is majoring in history at St. Joe in order to acquire the broad background necessary for announcing.

Active In SJ Affairs

Charlie, the eldest and only boy of six children, also credits his father with aiding him in his career. After all, it was his father who told him of the first offer.

Our future Mel Allen has been very active in school events. As chairman of the Athletic Committee of the Student Council he has arranged student trips and other activities. This past year he was treasurer of the Student Council and he also appeared as the dignified butler in the Columbian Players' presentation of "Charley's Aunt."

SJ's Loss, America's Gain

Upon graduation this June, he expects to be called into the army and hopes to be able to gain some broadcasting experience while in service. After that he has an announcing position open in Murray, Ky. Charlie then hopes to land a job with a larger station and then maybe move on to TV where he would like to be a sportscaster or else a news reporter like Edward R. Murrow.

St. Joe's loss will certainly be a gain for the many millions of people who will hear, and maybe see, Charlie Lancaster as a broadcaster. The congenial, mild-mannered Charlie will be a positive asset to any radio or TV program that is fortunate enough to hire him.

Sophs, Juniors Elect Officers For Next Year

Elections for next year's juniors and senior class officers will be held today, Thursday, May 8. Running for president of the 1958-59 seniors will be Joe Gurgone, Tim Faylor, Dave Cassin, and Pat Lavery.

Hank Stukenborg, Art Kurek, and Mike Tierney will compete for the vice-presidency. Those running for secretary include Charles Lileikis, and Dennis Ryan. Joe Chustowski and Fred Bornhoffer will run for the post of treasurer.

For the presidency of next year's junior class, Maurice O'Connor will run for his third term against Matt Lynch. Running for the post of junior vice-president will be Bob Gallaher.

Jack Bellucci and Paul Croteau will be the candidates for junior secretary, while Ed Massura and Don Sidor will compete for the job of class treasurer.

DeMint Outguns Jim Hagearty In Gun Duel

Tom DeMint, junior, from Springfield, Ill., won the pistol shoot in the second annual rifle meet sponsored by the St. Joe Rifle and Gun club. The meet was held on Thursday, May 1 on the college rifle range west of Scharf House.

In the rifle competition, Floyd Winner, Tom Geary, and Jim Hagearty shared first place honors. Thirteen contestants participated in the meet with the winners receiving $5 apiece.

The best marksmen were selected on the basis of their scores in shooting five shots each from a prone, kneeling, and standing position.

Collegeville Confidential

by Tim J. Sullivan, Jr.

Parents Day, plans for the Prom, elections—both class and club—girls, baseball, girls, softball, walking, girls, talking, girls, and many other things are occupying the minds of the Pumas this Spring. Schaefer-Lake seems to be getting popular for swimming, as is our own pond in front of the Ad building. Hardly an evening goes by that we don't hear the happy yells of the Pumas at play, beating up IM umpires for bum decisions, and beating each other up for no reason at all. And, now that Daylight Saving Time is in, these things can go on an hour longer, or at least an hour longer in the daylight.

Those benches spread about campus are all occupied most of the time by Pumas eager to rid themselves of an indoor palor, and acquire a little healthy tan, so they can go home, flex their muscles, and show off the "beecootifol tan" they got to the girls of their choice.

Unfortunately, the Pumas aren't pulling any funny stuns, at least, not ones we hear about, so don't be surprised if this column seems to be a little lacking in verbosity this time.

Awright, Who Took 'Em?

The next time you happen to see George Rickard around, why don't you ask him what happened on one of the recent baseball trips? The way it was told to me, someone hooked his shorts, and it took the whole team to find them again. That's one thing a person should never lose, right?
